Funeral Directors to Meet at Grafton

(By Associated Press.)
CLARKSBURG, July 23.—Grafton was selected as the place for the 1934 meeting of the West Virginia Funeral Directors association at this morning's session of the twenty-fifth annual convention now under way here. The following officers were elected: M. J. Lynch, Clarksburg, president; Lewis Bertz, Wheeling, vice president; Frank H. Foster, Wellsburg, secretary-treasurer. Delegates to the National Funeral Directors association are P. A. Simpson, of Charleston, Lewis Bertz, S. M. Kendall, of Elkins, and Howard Casper, of Wheeling.

Senator Page Will Not Vote for Treaty

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, July 23.—Senator Page, Republican Vermont, frankly outlined his objections to the peace treaty to President Wilson at the White House today and told the President he would not approve it. Beyond this statement, Senator Page would not discuss the conference. Senator Sterling, South Dakota, another White House caller said neither he nor the President mentioned the Shantung settlement. They discussed Article Ten of the League of Nations convention referring to protection of nations against "external aggression" and the clause relating to the withdrawal of nations from the league, but Senator would not go into details of the discussion.

MONTANA

An all day picnic attended by hundreds of persons was held here Sunday. Basket dinners were spread at noon and a royal feed enjoyed. Mr. Pollack of Fairmont was the speaker of the afternoon. All the fields hereabouts are filled with berry pickers. The crop this year is the best in several seasons. A number of persons from Fairmont came down to the berry fields every evening. Mrs. Bob Kahn is very ill at her home here. Charles Ratcliffe is able to be out after having been confined to the house for some time with illness.

AND NEW HIGH SCHOOL

Comprehensive Annual Report on Educational Activities.

The annual report of City Superintendent of Schools Otis G. Wilson has been completed and was presented to the Board of Education at the meeting of the board previous to the closing of the school year June 28. The report is a comprehensive one and has to deal with past accomplishments along various lines of the schools of the district and also contains a number of pertinent suggestions as to work that must be done and equipment that must be furnished if the schools are to make the progress they should to keep pace with a rapidly growing community.

This is the fourth annual report submitted by Mr. Wilson and is probably the most complete ever presented to the Board. The report points out clearly the conditions as they existed in the schools during the school year of 1933-1934 and makes recommendations as to what must be done during the year 1934-35. The report throughout is clear and intelligible and easy of interpretation to every particular. In the introduction Mr. Wilson thanks the Board of Education for hearty cooperation during the school year and regrets the severing of the relationship established between himself, the members of the Board and George M. Alexander, through the retiring from the presidency of the board of Mr. Alexander.

Among the many things set forth as necessary if the schools to make substantial progress are a new and modern high school building; more adequate quarters for the colored children of the city; the establishment of playgrounds for the children; free text books; a school nurse and many other things equally as important.

Tabulated reports concerning the attendance of pupils and teachers; their promotion by grades; comparisons of enrollments and attendances with previous years are contained in the report as well as tables showing the cost of instruction per capita tuition reports; sources of revenue supplies; school levies, valuation of properties and many other things of equal importance.

Outlines of the work accomplished in the manual training department, the domestic science department, the domestic art department and other departments of school work are also given considerable space in the report as are also the reports of the Thrift campaigns as conducted during the year and the garden army.

The report throughout is comprehensive and sets forth clearly the accomplishments and needs of the school in the past year and during the coming years.

Splendid Test

Today C. H. Jenkins, treasurer of the Hutchinson Coal Company, received a very favorable report of a testing of the company's coal in the Logan spring coal fields of the southern part of the state from Mesomine Wis. The sulphur is unusually low and the heat units especially high for a pile run sample. Selected samples run higher.

The test was as follows: Lump—1.5, volatile matter 28.51; fixed carbon, 55.76; ash, 4.73; sulphur .88. Eggs p.2.

Lake Situation

Conditions have not changed materially on the Great Lakes according to reports from Cleveland. The movement of coal on Sunday was light. One vessel of coal was cleared at Cleveland, O., on Sunday. One boat carrying coal arrived at Duluth on Sunday.

The loss in the movement of tonnage along the Great Lakes during August may drop a million tons. This loss for next month will wipe out the gain that was made during the early part of the season when the lake business started off with a bang. The movement toward the end of the lake season will depend upon the ability of the operators and railroads to take the coal to the lakes. Some of the Lake Erie docks are having a fair run of one for the beginning of the week. The Lake Michigan grain trade will cut more figure in the market after this week, but it is not likely that there will be a shortage of boats at any time even when Lake Superior movements get started.

BANQUET WILL

pose of taking the visitors to various points of interest in the city. Attorney James A. Meredith and Attorney Paul G. Armstrong, of the Marion County Bar Association, are in charge of the entertainment of the visitors. The closing event will be the annual banquet at the Fairmont Country club at 8:30 p. m. Attorney James A. Meredith of this city, is chairman of the banquet committee.

Morning Session

R. S. Spillman, of Charleston, chairman of the committee on legal education, made his report at the opening of the morning session. Mr. Spillman gave a very interesting report including several opinions of the committee along the lines of legal education. He made it clear that the committee opposed any plans which would tend to lower the present requirements for admission to the bar.

L. C. Anderson, chairman of the committee on legislation could not be present and no report from this committee was heard.

Judge Raymond Maxwell, of Clarksburg, chairman of the de facto committee on professional ethics made a report for that committee. James A. Meredith, chairman of the banquet committee made a report in which he announced the plans for the banquet. Announcement was made that the appropriation for the new law school building had been obtained but that no architect had been appointed.

Excellent Paper

Judge J. B. Sommerville, of Wheeling, read a paper entitled, "Recollections of the Bench and Bar of West Virginia," which was especially interesting and instructive. The aged judge had prepared his paper with much care and attention and related many of his experiences while on the bench and while at the bar which challenged the undivided attention of every member present.

Another paper of interest at the morning session was that read by Andrew Price, a sage of Pocahontas county, on "The Application of the Scripture to Coming Events."

Following the reading of the resolution this paper was presented by W. W. Hughes of Welch, W. Va., that the West Virginia Bar Association get behind the various organizations of the state in the celebration of the birth day of the constitution on September 17. The resolution carried unanimously.

Guy, Morgantown; Ernest R. Bell, Fairmont; M. H. Willis, New Martinsville; E. F. Morgan, Charleston.

Officers Elected

At the afternoon session yesterday, officers for the ensuing year were elected. Judge William S. Raymond of the Marion county circuit court was chosen vice president or the first district. James A. Meredith another prominent lawyer, was elected as a member of the executive committee.

The following officers were chosen:

President, R. S. Spillman, of Charleston.

Secretary, Uriah Barnes of Charleston.

Treasurer, C. A. Kreps, of Parkersburg.

Vice presidents: First district, Judge W. S. Raymond, of Fairmont; second district, C. E. Martin of Martinsburg; third district, Judge Raymond Maxwell of Clarksburg; fourth district, Judge Homer B. Woods of Harrisville; fifth district, A. W. Reynolds of Williamson; sixth district, Andrew Price of Marlinton.

Executive Council—B. M. Ambler, Parkersburg; J. B. Sommerville, Wheeling; H. C. Jones, Morgantown; James A. Meredith, Fairmont; W. W. Hughes, Welch.

Delegates to American Bar Association convention at Boston, Sept. 2, C. W. McCamie, Wheeling; G. R. C. Wiles, Charleston; George S. Wallace, Huntington.

Wheeling Next

At the business meeting yesterday afternoon Wheeling was decided upon as the place for the next annual meeting of the Association. The exact date will be determined later.

The session yesterday afternoon was opened by the president's annual address by Dean Henry Craig Jones of Morgantown. "The Importance of Adequate Requirements for Admission to the Bar" was his subject.

Spencer Speaks

At the Presbyterian church yesterday evening Senator Seldon P. Spencer of Missouri, honor guest of the West Virginia Bar Association, delivered a splendid address. Senator Spencer used as his subject "Some After War Problems." In discussing some of the national problems which our great nation has confronted in the eighteen months we were engaged in war.

He gave some very interesting figures which made his address all the more interesting. He stated that just 3,091,000 of the four million men we had in the service when the armistice was signed were national army men.

He declared that West Virginia was one of the thirteen American states whose per centage of physical fitness of young men was in the first rank which is composed of states in which from seventy to eighty per cent of the men examined successfully passed the examination.

All who had the pleasure of hearing Senator Spencer were well pleased with his address.

Brief memorial services were held in honor of the members of the association who have fallen in the service of their country. W. B. Gribble of West Union and George E. Price of Charleston were the leading speakers.

George S. Wallace of Huntington delivered an address on the popular subject "Military Justice," which was well appreciated by the large number of lawyers present.

Judge Raymond Maxwell of Clarksburg as chairman of the committee on grievances presented his report as did the chairman of the auditing committee.

William E. Matthews of Charleston is chairman of the committee on legal biography of the West Virginia Bar Association yesterday submitted the following report:

Never before in the history of the bar in this State nor in the history of the West Virginia Bar Association has the death toll been so great as during the past year. Besides the relentless Old Age which has as usual been laid heavily upon the profession, the ruthless hand of war has snatched away four of our heroic youths and the untimely fingers of the influenza epidemic subtly and unexpectedly has touched a large number of the young men who were some of our brightest legal lights and almost in the twinkling of an eye they were not.

Thirty four attorneys representing twenty counties of the state have departed this life since our last annual session. Possibly no previous year has registered more than half that number of deceased lawyers.

Of the four who made the supreme sacrifice in the recent war special memorials are to be delivered at this session upon the suggestion of this committee. Too great honor cannot be shown the memory of the men who voluntarily gave up their lives for the benefit of mankind. When Roy Earl Parrish, Francis Worth Payne, Edmund Caskie Harrison and Eugene Noble Mayer volunteered their services and gave unflinchingly their lives to their country they were actuated by the same divine spirit which impelled the Savior of Mankind to give his life a ransom for many. "Greater love hath no man than this." For the first time in the annals of the West Virginia Bar Association are names thus presented. They shall be kept bright and held in loving remembrance and at each recurring session we shall pluck for them a fresh flower of memory and let fall another tear of gratitude and love. Roy Earl Parrish, Francis Worth Payne, Edmund Caskie Harrison and Eugene Noble Mayer will continue to live and be held by this body as shining examples of what the young West Virginia lawyer is capable of in bravery and patriotism.

The ranks of our judiciary has been invaded by the untimely death of that just Judge Henry C. Harvey who was judge of the Circuit Courts in the first judicial circuit at the time of his demise. Ex-Circuit Judge, Thomas P. Jacobs, of Wetzel county, long a leader in this Association, Ex-Circuit Judge A. N. Campbell of Monroe county, beloved as a man and respected as a jurist, Ex-Judge John A. Campbell of New Cumberland, man of affairs yet dignified gentleman and Judge Robert G. Lian, of Kanawha county, a rare example of honesty and public spirit, have all fallen before the grim Reaper who is no respecter of persons.

Other eminent citizens in our ranks who let fall their burdens, full of honor and of years, were Col. J. E. Houston of Moundsville, Maj. J. F. Harding of Elkins, W. V. Hoge, of Wheeling, Louis Bennett of Weston, Bernard L. Butcher of Fairmont, J. M. Lester of Reedy, Joseph Bradford of Jacksonburg, A. G. Wynkoop of Charles Town and John W. Ball of Beckley.

Those cut down in the prime of middle life were R. M. Baker and T. C. Lavery of Huntington, W. F. Frame and C. F. Greene of Sutton, O. A. Hood and F. C. Reynolds of Keyser, H. A. Bohn of Hinton and R. Leigh Fleming of Fairmont.

However, an unusually large portion of the harvest garnered by death from among our number this year were among the young men. Among these was the popular secretary of the Association, J. R. W. Morris, Jr., of Moundsville, who was devoted to the interests of the organization and loved its work almost to the extent of an obsession. Others were Edmund P. Hunter of Martinsburg, John C. Berry, Charles A. Memmelmer and C. L. Radcliffe of Wheeling, Fred C. Fennell of Morgantown, R. Leigh Fleming of Fairmont and Dorr Casto of Parkersburg.
